

Experience the magic through music

An international indigenous music festival is planned for July 15-17, 2009, at the amazing new Altai Cultural Retreat Center that is being developed by Svetlana Katinova's "Sacred Altai" NGO in Tyungur, with sponsorship from AMU.

Altai is the home of “throat-singing”—a phenomenon in which a shaman simultaneously produces a base drone and a haunting overtone. For millennia, throat-singing has been the medium for transmitting the oral history—not through the words, but through images evoked in the listeners’ mind’s eye by the vibrations! Indigenous cultures are resurging in the new Russia....contact Carol for details
